

THE RED PLATE

A Family Tradition

Whenever someone in your family does something worthy of note, or something in which to take pride, her or his dinner is served on THE RED PLATE. The event, the date, and any comments are recorded in the red notebook that is kept with the red plate so that you have a permanent record of special family moments in the life of your family. Such special moments can be either big or small, for example, a good report card, a new job, a job well done, an award, a goal obtained, or whatever. You might also want to take a picture each time you celebrate such a special moment and add it to the notebook.

Enjoy your celebration of each other!
